Compiled, computerized
with an every name index

In reproducing Vol. 2 of Marriages for Wilton, Maine the old handwriting is sometimes quite difficult to decipher. It would be best to check each entry yourself for accuracy.

Middle initials are particularly hard to obtain and clerks seem to have penmanship problems from time to time. There was no standardized spelling yet, so check for multiple listings for the families you are searching.

Remember that today's Franklin County was once York, then Lincoln, then Kennebec and lastly in 1838, Franklin county.

There is an every name index after the typed main body of work. Each woman is listed twice, once as a married lady, and once with her maiden name. The older books only indexed the men.

The original book, a photocopy of which is in the Town Office, never had a complete index. The index stops about page 46. There are 152 pages listed, however, and there are 3 page 38's, which have been remarked 38A, 38B and 38C. There are no pages there or missing from page 66 through 85. The dates are chronologically correct. There are 2 page 102's and so those are also re-marked, 102A and 102B. An index for men only has been done, as once you wish to refer back to the original, you will do so with the 'men only' index. Marriage dates are not in order by dates as Ministers of the Gospel & Justices of the Peace did not seem to record the marriages which they had preformed all year, sometimes, until another year had passed.

There is an index for Ministers of the Gospel and for Justices of the Peace.
